

JON AND RICKY

Our wedding took place on 7th March 2009 in Devon. I found out about Jon Sterckx and Ricky Romain from a Google search and was impressed by Jon's page on MySpace. This is a real testimonial by the way. These guys were the most relaxing part of my wedding preparation. At all times both Jon and Ricky were professional, reliable, helpful and understanding, especially when I was stressing out about general wedding things, Jon and Ricky were so cool and helpful that I felt calmer and reassured. Notwithstanding all of these qualities they brought something more to my wedding, some excellent quality sitar and tabla playing! I arrived about 2 hours late to the wedding and Ricky and Jon kept the hungry, thirsty and anxious wedding guests entertained and in high-spirits. During the wedding ceremony, the music was uplifting and provided a really unique feel to my 'East Meets West' theme. Both Ricky and Jon attended appropriately dressed and burned some beautifully scented incense which provided further assistance in keeping everything calm and happy. I have to advise anyone looking for highly professional and excellent sitar and tabla musicians to book them without any question. When I was unclear as to the best sound for walking down the aisle Ricky played some ragas (?) to me over the phone and because Jon was not present, inserted his very own tabla machine to play Jon's part for the purpose. Even though, due to my lateness, the evening overran, these guys continued to play well beyond the allotted time. Our guests were overawed with the atmospheric music and we have had some really positive feedback. They made the wedding truly spectacular and unforgettable!
